TOMASZ RYSAK

< front-end developer />

I am a self-taught front-end developer. I gained my first experience on this position at the Webiso Interactive Agency, where I successfully implemented the projects I was in charge of. Working with more experienced developers, I was able to improve my skills and expand my knowledge on new technologies. As a freelancer, I created my first commercial projects. What brings me the most satisfaction at work is constant challenge, opportunity to develop myself and learning new things. My Experience and soft skills acquired at jobs beyond IT branch certainly bring many positive aspects to the team I join. I am open to cooperation on B2B contract or employment contract.
